IMAGINE that you and your friends ran a hotline which people could call to get happy messages when they feel overwhelmed or anxious about matters personal, professional or geopolitical. What wit or wisdom would you offer to others?